

National Almond Day

Almonds grow on trees and are part of the rose family (along with peaches and apricots). Almonds are picked by a machine that shakes them off the trees. Then, they lay on the ground for 5-10 days when a sweeper comes and picks them up.

Bees are an important part of almond growth. Farmers rent them to pollinate their orchards. Without bees pollinating the flowers, the almonds wouldn't grow.

Color the flowers and bee!
