

Deep Dish Pizza Day!

This unique twist on a popular Italian food originated in Chicago, Illinois. Although no one knows exactly who invented the deep dish pizza, there are two main chefs that can possibly be credited to its creation.

The first is Ike Sewell.
He is the founder of Uno Pizzeria.

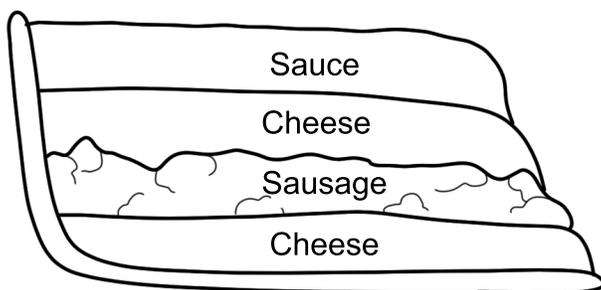

The second is Rudy Malnati.
He is the founder of Lou Malnati's.

Either way, if you ask the people of Chicago where to get a good deep dish pizza, they'll point you to one of these two pizzerias! But what makes a deep dish pizza?

From bottom to top, the layers of a traditional pizza are the crust, sauce, cheese, and then toppings.

A deep dish pizza's layers are the crust, cheese, toppings, and then the sauce on top.

Build your own deep dish pizza with your favorite toppings!