

The Importance of Family

Where do your cultural influences come from?
Find out where you draw your cultural influences from!

1. Start by collecting information: names of individuals in your family (friends or role models can be included to), where they come from and one cultural influence that you have observed or been told about.
2. Organize this information and how you would like to present it.
3. Make a design that holds the spaces for you and your list of individuals. (It can be a flower with you in the center, it can be like a family tree, or a simple outline)
4. Put the information in and pictures or drawings of them/things that remind you of them/the observed cultural influence.
