

Philadelphia Famous Foods: Philly Cheesesteak (Page 1)

The most famous food in Pennsylvania, particularly in Philadelphia, is the Philly cheesesteak and is believed to have originated in Philadelphia in the 1930's. It consists of thinly sliced steak (typically ribeye), a choice of cheese (provolone, American, or Cheez Whiz), and often grilled onions, all served on a long, crusty roll. Some like to add fried mushrooms, red and green peppers, ketchup (or tomato sauce for a Pizza Steak).
